

STATE AGENTS SEIZE HUGE WHISKEY STILL

Largest in West Virginia Is Found in Mountains.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 10.—Officers of the State Prohibition Department brought to Charleston yesterday what they declared to be the largest moonshine whiskey still in the State and which, they said, had been responsible for the death of at least two men. One man, it is claimed, was killed in a fight over the still and the other's death was caused as the result of drinking liquor distilled in it.

The still, of fifty gallons make capacity, was seized in the mountains of Raleigh county, but the operators escaped. The prohibition agents said it was capable of turning out twelve gallons of moonshine every twenty-four hours, and that it had been operated by day and night shifts of workers. Twelve secret locations had been used for the still on the same farm, they declared.

One aged man is held by the agents in connection with the seizure of the still. It is alleged he acted as a "look-out" for the operators.
